Title : Obligation

Lyrics :

all you kids stay in school im not saying it's your obligation to emancipate your brain through excessive radiation to admit your a fool and never finish school to all you kids who dropped and never made it home dont worry abut being a loser because you know your not alone its your life do what you want with it you can take it slow go to college get a job live your life really low love what you got because your lovin is your own!

so if we let babylon come and rule our fucking nation sadly itll never meet up to my standard expectations to admit we are fools and used just as tols to make this government righteous and our country a holy whore dont worry about your conscience though u know it doesnt matter lifes been handed down to you on a silver platter dont give in to this bullshit stand up for yourself its your life if you dont defend it no one ever will!
