Title : Latina Hot Chick

Lyrics :

I walked down the street towards safety
And I heard the crew yell "Mutiny!"
And the captain was no where to be found
The waves, they spoke of freedom on the ground

And the city smelled just like mustard gas and roses
And I felt just like a second Moses
As I parted the dead seas
Well, I won't ask to let my people go
Because you know
They'd never do the same for me

They didn't build the tower to get to Heaven
They built it to bring Heaven down to them
And I swore manana would bring paradise
I had every right to believe I could lie

And the city smelled just like mustard gas and roses
And I felt just like a second Moses
As I parted the dead seas
Well, I won't ask to let my people go
Because you know
They'd never do the same for me
