Title : Only Through Sacrifice

Lyrics :

I see your silhouette against the horizon,
Wondering if the dreams and reality of this world
Have made one,
As you hear my silent footfalls behind,
You turn to me,
And I know-

We know that we can't be together,
But that will never stop us,
We are separated by a thin veil,
And I'm about to break through.
Anything to get to you.

Every time I try to look at you closely,
You're gone,
Taken further away,
And I can't get any closer.

The closer we get the more we bleed,
But we press on,
The veil is getting thinner,
And I'm about to break through,
Anything to get to you.

I cry your name into the night,
But with no reply.
I think I'll die soon,
But I won't give in until you hold me in your warm embrace.
I think I hear my name in the distance
But it may only be the night.

We're almost together,
The veil is spattered with our blood,
We still go on,
Despite the pain it causes,
All I want to see is you,
And I know you feel the same,
The veil won't hold up,
I'm about to break through,
Anything to get to you.

I take your hand at last,
And tears join our blood,
Through the veil we are together,
And in that instant, we know this is how it's supposed to be.

I fall to the ground

(Anything to be with you)

You are next to me through the veil

(Anything to be with you)

I lean against you, the veil cuts my cheek

(Anything to be with you)

I close my eyes

(Anything to be with you)

Your hand is the last thing I will ever know

And as the world dissolves around me

I take my last breath,

But I will never let go.
