Lyrics :

don't tell me it's wrong i just wana see this through don't care 'bout you can i make it to twenty i'm not being funny cause it hasn't been sunny for a while do you see i don't want to smile your too old fashioned to understand that i can i can but you won't let me i can't i can't when you look at me i can't believe that i even pretended to be just like you and now i can spite you you've got me stuck adn i can't find a hook i was just finding my way when you just had to say you can you can just don't look you can you can find that hook there's people holding me back and i just can't crack that's why you hear me say i can i can but you won't let me i can't i can't when you look at me i can i can but you won't let me i can't i can't when you look at me i can't i can't when you judge me
