Title : Fuse

Lyrics :

face down, in a hole, that i've been in before beaten down, dog turns to bite, no control anymore attrition - forced to believe that it's natural and right their chains of apathy are coming off tonight I've been down that road before and I know where it goes can't sit back in complacency, in the comfort of my home Standing on opposing sides raging out of control they're out there frothing at their mouths like the dogs of war this time it's their turn to take a trip down in the hole no tolerance for their oppressive power and domination anymore this time we do the one thing that will save our fucking lives out of the cage and off the chain; the scales peeled off of our eyes Standing on the edge, emotions raging out of control we're out there frothing like the dogs of war waiting... ready to explode
this time we do the one thing that will save our fucking lives
out of the cage and off the chain; the scales peeled off of our eyes Standing in the middle, fire burns out of control They've lit the fuse on this powder keg and now it all... now it all explodes
