

Band / Artist : Dysfunctional Kid Added : Thursday, September 4th

Title : Streetlight confessions

Lyrics :

when the sun goes down along with all my good thoughts, smiles fade away. I cant seem to think of you the way i wish i could. i cannot. im surrounded by the sounds of life with a frame of memories i forgot. im scared to be the one waiting for things thatll never come to me. i cant seem to shake this all off and make up my mind, i keep on living in our memories that seem so kind, i wanna talk to you but i got nowhere to begin, i might be dead long before i ever see you again. so i find myself at the window pane wondering how you live your life. im trying to pretend im hearing your voice while you sing our song. but youre not here and it kills me to leave my mind at that. i wait for you to come as streetlight confessions get the best of me. i am my own problem, dont turn away. i got my reasons. wish i could say let me pull you into the saddest sundowns.