Title : Brown Eyes Are The Best Eyes

Lyrics :

for once i wish the night sky could be brown so you could finally see your eyes the way i do you'd appreciate the texture and have so much regret for ever thinking that youre not gold just lie on my hood, close your eyes tight as i whisper in your ear somehow you knew that after tonight everyone would dissappear its just me and you and the whole world with no one getting in our way ill learn to change the weather - it will rain everyday every star is every spark in your eyes when you look at me the way that makes my heart pound so rappidly that you cant tell the difference between these drums and my chest our hands will be wet, our hair will be soaked and we'll kiss to every drop of rain from the sky, you hate me - you lied with you my lungs will never stop im still caught up on your eyes when you look at me that way ive learned to change the weather, and it rains everyday...
