Title : A Promise Told Is A Promise Kept

Lyrics :

trying to change the past has taken up most of my present late night searches for the time machine that is the perfect fit so what if is belt is whiter so what if his jeans are tighter im not the jealous boyfriend you know he is 18?
i know that he means nothing just as long as you see me through the end so see me through the end see me as im thrown on the line see me as i jump, fall, or fly and all the promises i made well they were all promises to keep but to forget is something thats too extreme for me hope only goes so far and this has gone for far too long its not as easy as it sounds i know im probably wrong we were once united but now if i fall

i fall alone
